State News

Iowa

The Iowa Office of the State Archaeologist (OSA) will move to a new headquarters building this fall. The new facility is located at 700 S. Clinton Street, just off the southern end of the University of Iowa main campus. Built in the 1960s, the building originally was the A&P supermarket. After purchase by the university, the building housed campus mail and surplus services and an outdoor equipment rental service.

The OSA will share the building with public radio stations KSUI and WSUI. Remodeling of the building began in May, with project completion in September or October. This new facility will offer a central location for OSA activities that are currently scattered among four buildings. Expanded laboratory and repository space will help ease the overcrowding that has resulted from recent growth.

Kentucky

Effective July 1, 1997, Dr. Mary Powell and Dr. R. Berle Clay will no longer be serving as Directors of the William S.

Webb Museum of Anthropology and the Office of State Archaeology (OSA), respectively. These directorships have been combined under one tenure track, special faculty position that is currently being advertised. During the search for a professional director, Nancy O'Malley will be serving as Acting Director. Please direct all inquiries concerning Museum and OSA functions after July 1 to Ms. O'Malley. The same telephone and FAX numbers are in service. Since the two offices are still spatially separate (although there is an anticipated consolidation move in the not-too-distant future), Nancy will be shuttling back and forth between buildings for awhile. Voice mail is active for both the Museum and OSA telephone numbers (606-257-8208 and 606-257-5735, respectively). Lynn Webb will be in the OSA office on Mondays and Tuesdays. Kate Hesselden will be at the Virginia Avenue facility full time through the summer.

Call For Papers

Vernacular Architecture Forum

The Vernacular Architecture Forum is soliciting proposals for presentations at its Annual Meeting to be held in Annapolis, Maryland, May 6-10, 1998. Papers may address any aspect of vernacular architecture in North America or elsewhere and should be primarily analytical rather than descriptive in content. The selection committee especially welcomes proposals from scholars investigating the landscape and built environment of the Greater Chesapeake.

Proposals may be for either a 20-minute paper on a subject that the author has extensively researched or a 10-minute "work in progress" report. Selection will be based on the proposed paper's original contribution to the study of vernacular architecture. Fellowships may be available to students whose papers have been accepted. Papers presented at the meeting will be considered for the VAF's "Perspectives in Vernacular Architecture" series.

Typewritten proposals should include a title for the paper, the author's name, address, telephone and FAX numbers, and an E-mail address (if applicable). Proposals should be one page (400 words max.) in length. Please be sure to state the argument of the paper, discuss the methodology, and lay out the scope and content.

Submissions must be postmarked by October 1, 1997. Accepted papers, tailored to the prescribed time limits, must be submitted to session chairs by April 1, 1998. Only one submission per author will be accepted. Those presenting papers must be VAF members at the time of the conference. Please submit five (5) copies of the proposal to Martha J. McNamara, Department of History, 5774 Stevens Hall, University of Maine, Orono, ME 04469-5774; 207-581-1917.

For more information about the annual meeting, contact Orlando Ridout V, Office of Research, Survey, & Registration, Maryland Historical Trust, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, MD 21032-2023; 410-514-7642.

SAA Prepares for 63rd Meeting

The 63rd Annual Meeting of the Society for American Archaeology (SAA) will be held March 25-29, 1998, in Seattle, Washington. Events are scheduled for the Washington Trade and Convention Center and the Sheraton Seattle Hotel. SAA anticipates that the meeting will attract a large number of archaeologists from around the world.

The 63rd Annual Meeting preliminary program will be available in late December. To receive a copy interested parties should contact the Society for American Archaeology at 900 Second Street, N.E., #12, Washington, DC 20002-3557, telephone 202-789-8200; FAX 202-789-0284; or E-mail meetings@saa.org. A "sneak preview" brochure with travel discount information and housing materials will be available in late September.

The Quick Fix

Need to know the correct magnetic declination for your site or project area? Then you better not use a USGS topo map. Declinations on USGS maps are only accurate for the year the map was made! And yes, declinations do change.

Finding the correct declination is just a phone call away. AMS now offers its clients The Quick Fix. Send us a fax on your letterhead with the longitude, latitude, and date of your field work and we will return your fax with the declination, inclination, and intensity of the magnetic field...any place on earth.

The price is just $25 per fix. You never again have to worry about making a map with the wrong orientation nor worry that you have not entered the right parameters into your high tech survey instrument. Just fax us and ask for The Quick Fix.

Job Announcements

National Underground Railroad Freedom Center Program Director

The National Underground Railroad Freedom Center, a world class museum and educational center scheduled to open in 2002, is seeking a Program Director to design, develop and implement its educational programs. The ideal candidate will have a minimum of a M.A. in African American history, American history, museum education, museum studies, or other related field. A minimum of five years progressive experience in museum education is required. The ideal candidate should also demonstrate management and supervisory skills, excellent verbal and written communication skills, and the ability to work with volunteers. A commitment to community involvement and knowledge of Black history are important. Please send resume with evidence of successful program management information and the telephone numbers of three professional references to: The National Underground Railroad Freedom Center, 312 Elm Street (20th Floor), Cincinnati, OH 45202.

Deputy Education Director American Social History

The American Social History Project and its parent organization, the CUNY Center for Media and Learning, seek a dynamic and capable Deputy Education Director. The Deputy Education Director will work closely with the Education Director to guide and support the expanding work of ASHP/CML education programs, including professional development programs in schools and colleges in NYC and around the country.

Based at the CUNY Graduate School and University Center, ASHP creates award-winning history videos, CD-ROMs and print materials used in classrooms nationwide. The ASHP Education Division helps to shape those materials and works directly with teachers and students, seeking ways to help them transform their history and humanities classrooms. ASHP's professional development programs help faculty diversify and strengthen the curriculum, utilize learner-centered pedagogies, and build student literacy. ASHP's newest faculty programs explore ways to use CD-ROMs and the World Wide Web to enhance learning and teaching.

Working with over 90 urban schools and colleges nationwide, ASHP has been recognized as an "Exemplary Program for Building Minority Student Achievement" by the American Association for Higher Education, the College Board, and the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

The Deputy Education Director will play a significant role in guiding and managing ASHP professional development programs. The Deputy Director will have particular responsibility for the ASHP's interdisciplinary Making Connections Program, our oldest and most well-established school/college program, which builds literacy skills and enhances learning and teaching in more than 40 New York City high schools. We seek a unique individual who combines skills and experiences as an educator, administrator, and program developer; someone who can work effectively with faculty and educational administrators and coordinate the work of ASHP teacher-consultants and education staff. Other valued qualities include:

- strong interpersonal skills
- excellent writing and editing skills
- a commitment to working with diverse communities
- knowledge of and interest in interdisciplinary multicultural and social history approaches to the study of the American experience
- a passion about public education and knowledge of issues in urban education
- familiarity with computers (word processing, spreadsheets, and telecommunication software) and an interest in the educational potential of new digital media (CD-ROMs and the World Wide Web);
- experience as a professional development leader
- experience with fundraising and organizational development
- ability to provide administrative program and fiscal oversight and budget management
- a blending of broad knowledge, imagination and vision with an ability to attend to details and follow-through
- a dedication to democratic values and collaborative work processes.

Laboratory Director

Archaeological and Historical Consultants, Inc. (A&HC), is accepting applications for the position of Laboratory Director. Responsibilities include managing all aspects of artifact analysis and curation. Applicants must have a M.A. (or equivalent experience) in Anthropology, Archaeology, or a closely related field, and must have strong organizational skills. Specialization in prehistoric lithic analysis is preferred, but those with other historic or prehistoric analytic specialties will be considered. Position is full time with competitive salary and benefits including health insurance and benefits. A&HC is located in central Pennsylvania near Penn State University. Established in 1983, A&HC provides archaeological and architectural history services throughout the eastern U. S. and has a full-time staff of over 35 personnel. Send resume, letter of application, and references to Mr. Gary Coppock, Project Manager, Archaeological and Historical Consultants, Inc., PO Box 483, Centre Hall, PA 16828. E.O.E

This position will begin in October 1997. Applications should be received by September 15, 1997. The salary range is from $41,000 to $46,000, commensurate with experience; full benefits included. ASHP/CML and CUNY are equal opportunity employers; women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply. Please send resume and cover letter indicating your philosophy on professional development and educational reform to Search Committee, c/o Eliza Fabillar, American Social History Project/Center for Media and Learning, 99 Hudson Street, New York, NY 10013.

The NRCS-USDA Cultural Resources Specialists and Coordinators Directory has been updated!

The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) (formally, the Soil Conservation Service) works with landowners on private lands to conserve natural resources. NRCS helps farmers and ranchers develop individual conservation systems suited for their land and agriculture business. Rural and urban communities also rely on the agency to help reduce erosion, conserve and protect water, and solve other resource problems.

Since NRCS provides assistance to people and communities to protect, maintain, and improve natural resources, cultural resources are considered in this work. The stewardship of these nonrenewable resources is an important link in the conservation ethic that underlies the NRCS mission. The Cultural Resources Directory contains the names, addresses, and contact points for agency management, coordinators, and specialists at all organizational levels who are involved in working with or making decisions on cultural resources.

This directory can be obtained by writing to the following address and including (an) address label(s) of those requesting the directory: Lara Philbert, Program Assistant, Ecological Sciences Division, NRCS, NHQ, PO Box 2890, Washington, DC 20013; and by 202-720-5811.

The easiest way to obtain the directory is by printing from our webpage at: <http://www.nhq.nrcs.usda.gov/BCS/culture/crsframe.html>.
