Kentucky

Regional Conference Planned for the American Planning Association

The Kentucky and Tennessee Chapters of the American Planning Association will hold a joint fall Conference, September 24-27, 1997, at the Radisson Plaza Hotel in Lexington, Kentucky. For registration information contact KAPA/TAPA Regional Conference, LFUCG Division of Planning, 200 East Main Street, Lexington, KY 40507; 606-258-3160; E-mail merideth@lfucg.com

Maine

Town of Freeport Awarded Survey Grant

The Town of Freeport's Comprehensive Plan includes a policy to "preserve significant archaeological resources and important historical and architectural structures and areas which constitute Freeport's heritage." The Freeport Historic Resources Committee (FHRC) was created to implement this plan.

The Town of Freeport has two national Register Districts: the Harraseeket Historic District and the Main Street Historic District, both of which were nominated during the 1970s. The FHRC decided that in order to implement their portion of the comprehensive plan, the districts needed to be updated. The districts were nominated a relatively long time ago and there have been a number of changes since the nominations were completed. There are some questions about the boundaries of the districts and the contributing and non-contributing buildings in each district.

The Maine Historic Preservation Commission awarded the Town of Freeport a Survey and Planning matching grant to update both districts. The districts will be updated through deed research addition of qualifying buildings previously overlooked or newly eligible buildings. The Town of Freeport has hired Preservation Consultants Anne Ball and Mary Eliza Wengren to complete the work by April 1998.

Michigan

The Michigan State Preservation Office will sponsor a Fall workshop entitled "Walk Around the Block with Polaroid and Lessons of Place." The workshop will be held September 26-27, 1997, at the Michigan Historical Center, Lansing. For more information, call 517-373-1630.

The Michigan Rural Issues Forum will be held September 19, 1997. For more information, call 248-625-8181.

New Jersey

The 1998 New Jersey Historic Preservation Conference will be held Saturday, April 4, 1998. This meeting is still in the planning stages. For more information, contact New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, Historic Preservation Office, PO Box 404, Trenton, NJ 08625-0404; 609-292-2023; FAX 609-984-0578.

Call For Papers

"assemblage" Electronic Publication Call for Papers

The editors of **assemblage** are now considering material for our third issue, due out October 1997. (Our first and second issues are live on the Web, and to date, have received over 4800 hits and many warm reviews!) Contributions from both students and professionals are welcome. As a highly varied electronic publication, we're keen to have papers on original archaeological ideas and research, short notes from the field, interviews, artwork, opinion essays, humor, reviews of books, games, museums, CD-ROMs, and just about anything else you can think of. So if you have a conference paper; thesis chapter, a cool photograph, a cartoon, a great essay, an amusing archaeological anecdote, or advice for graduate students... submit it! Want to know more about the sorts of things we're looking for?

Please check out our Web site at <http://www.shef.ac.uk/~assem/> and read through our Mission Statement/ Call for Papers, and our Submissions Manifesto. (Or if you don't have WWW access, write to us and we'll mail you a copy.)

Deadline for material requiring peer review (formal scholarly articles) is July 20, 1997. Deadline for all other material is August 20, 1997. Material received later will be considered for the subsequent issue. Please contact the editors with a proposal or abstract as soon as possible.

assemblage is based at the Research School of Archaeology and Archaeological Science, University of Sheffield, 2 Mappin St., Sheffield, England, S1 4DT. E-mail: assemblage@sheffield.ac.uk; tel: (0114) 2825109/2; WWW: <http://www.shef.ac.uk/~assem/>

Announcements

Indiana New Director for the Division of Historic Preservation & Archaeology

Jon C. Smith has been promoted to Director of the Division of Historic Preservation and Archaeology, Indiana Department of Natural Resources (DNR). Jon's tenure with the DNR began five and a half years ago as a Section 106 Environmental Review Intern. He has served the DNR as Chief of Grants and Administration since 1993, and has been involved in the development and execution of more than 300 historic preservation and archaeology projects throughout Indiana.

As the Division's ISTEIA Coordinator, Jon has been active in securing funding for historic transportation facilities and archaeological research. Indiana is one of the few states to have allocated considerable funding to cultural resources. To date, this number approaches seven million dollars for 30 projects. As Director, Jon will continue to encourage DNR participation in collaborative programs with other state agencies and private organizations.

Dr. Berle Clay Joins Staff of Cultural Resource Analysts

Cultural Resource Analysts, Inc., is pleased to announce that Dr. R. Berle Clay has joined the firm's Lexington, Kentucky, office. Having attended Yale University and then later, the University of Kentucky for graduate work, Dr. Clay earned his Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University in 1968. Clay served as State Archeologist and Director of Kentucky's Office of State Archeology between 1976 and 1997. Between 1968 and 1976 he was an Associate Professor of Anthropology at Tulane University. He held a similar position at The American University between 1967 and 1968 where, in addition to his teaching responsibilities, he completed archaeological field research in France, Spain, and the District of Columbia.

Clay's expertise combines 37 years experience in all aspects of archaeology including teaching, management, and field research in both academic and cultural resource management contexts. Beginning with a research interest in the Ohio Valley (fieldwork in Kentucky, M.A. Thesis), his career has involved Paleolithic research in France (Ph.D. dissertation) and Bronze Age museum study in Spain (with Dr. Walter Taylor), since 1976, he has focused on Ohio Valley archaeological research in Archaic, Early Woodland, and Late Prehistoric time periods. He has published his research widely and is well known for his contributions to the archaeology of the Eastern United States. In addition, since the late 1980s he has concentrated in near-surface remote sensing using various geophysical techniques.

Clay has specialized in the application of near-surface geophysical survey techniques to archaeological sites. Using high speed EM technology in the Ohio Valley, he has pioneered the use of soil conductivity and magnetic susceptibility surveys in a variety of prehistoric and historic archaeological contexts. These surveys, in both academic research and cultural resource management contexts, have assisted in the development of research and evaluation strategies.

National Trust Re-emphasizes Mission

The Board of Trustees of the National Trust for Historic Preservation approved a new mission statement for the National Trust at its May meeting in Washington, D.C. This re-statement comes out of the Trust's strategic planning process and more clearly focuses on the Trust Priorities.

The new statement reads: "The National Trust for Historic Preservation provides leadership, education, and advocacy to save America's diverse historic places and revitalize our communities."

New Service

The Quick Fix

Need to know the correct magnetic declination for your site or project area? Then you better not use a USGS topo map. Declinations on USGS maps are only accurate for the year the map was made! And yes, declinations do change.

Finding the correct declination is just a phone call away. AMS now offers its clients The Quick Fix. Send us a fax on your letterhead with the longitude, latitude, and date of your field work and we will return your fax with the declination, inclination, and intensity of the magnetic field...any place on earth.

The price is just $25 per fix. You never again have to worry about making a map with the wrong orientation nor worry that you have not entered the right parameters into your high tech survey instrument. Just fax us and ask for The Quick Fix.

American Association for State and Local History Workshops

The American Association for State and Local History (AASLH) has organized a series of "Back to Class" workshops to be held at various locations around the country. The workshops provide opportunities for interactive learning and a chance to network with colleagues. Workshops are as follows:

Making History With Your Community is a 4-day, intensive program designed to cover all the bases in leading a historical organization. Registration is $200 and covers all meals and course materials. Dates and locations are: September 4-7 at Colonial Williamsburg, Williamsburg, VA and October 22-25 at Historic New Harmony, New Harmony, IN.

Historic House Museums is a 3-day workshop exploring how to develop, care for, and market your historic house museum, regardless of its size or grandeur. Sessions involve how to manage a site, programming for community development and fundraising, and beginning a restoration plan. Registration is $250. This workshop will be held October 16-18, at the Cheney Cowles Museum, Spokane WA.

Leadership and Governance is a 3-day workshop that provides an in-depth look at the management of historical organizations. Sessions include professional ethics, effective board-staff relationships, and beginning fundraising campaigns. Registration is $125 and includes one lunch and all course materials. This workshop will be held December 4-6, at the University of Delaware, Newark, DE.

Interpretation and Community History is a 3-day workshop focusing on interpretive planning, effective interpretation techniques, and current issues in the field. Registration fee is $125 and includes one lunch and all course materials. This workshop will be held April 30-May 2, 1998, at the University of Western Michigan, Kalamazoo, MI.

Contact the AASLH office for more information at 615-255-2971 or E-mail aaslh@nashville.net.

Notice

Due to unforeseen circumstances the Tools of the Trade column and its August article "Digital Photograph: The Wave of the Future?" have been postponed until September.

Archaeological Equipment for Sale or Rent

Do you do archaeology in any of these places?

Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Guam, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wyoming, Canada, Sri Lanka, or Panama.

For over sixteen years, archaeologists in these places has used my plastic drum flotation devices to recover the most from their sites. These durable, portable lightweight devices process large samples quickly and completely. They come ready to hook up to a garden hose. Now the choice of archaeologists from coast to coast, they are only $375.00 complete. If you want to get more out of your sites, call write or FAX for more information.
